COL. JOHN CALVIN COOLIDGE IS LAID TO REST

CEREMONIES ARE CARRIED OUT AS HE HAD WISHED

HIS SON CALVIN, CHIEF MAGISTRATE OF NATION, PERFORMS SOMBER DUTY

FOLLOWS TRAIL PRESIDENT AND WIFE TROD WHEN THEY LOST THEIR SON

By HERBERT LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Plymouth, March 10.—John Calvin Coolidge was buried here today in the frozen side of one of the hills of his native Vermont.

His son, Calvin, chief magistrate of the nation, performed a son's somber duty, following the body to the grave and watching as the old Vermont patriarch's soul was consigned "unto Almighty God" at the culmination of the solemn Episcopal order for the burial of the dead.

The ceremonies were carried out just as the Colonel had directed, as a fitting climax to the 80 years of his life.

No tears were shed from the time Rev. John White intoned "I am the resurrection and the life," to when, after scattering flower petals on the gray casket, he committed the body to the earth.

The little journey retraced the path of the Gethsemane trail the president and Mrs. Coolidge followed a year and a half ago to bury their son, Calvin, Jr., in the same plot of the Coolidges.

The monument of John Calvin Coolidge was already there, selected by the aged man two years ago. In the spring a stone cutter will add merely the date of death—March 18, 1926—to the record of his birth date—March 31, 1845.

The service opened at 2 P. M. in the parlor of Colonel John's house which he deeded a few days ago to his son during the wait for the death angel. The room opened into the little sitting room in which, by a flickering oil lamp, he, a notary public, swore in his son as president of the United States on August 3, 1923, following the death of Warren G. Harding.

There was no music.

"I am the resurrection and the life," said the Lord; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me, shall never die," the pastor said in a solemn voice opening the last memorial to the best known Green Mountain native.

President Coolidge, his son John—the old man's only grand son—Governor Billings of Vermont, Attorney General Sargent and the president's entourage, were dressed in black cutaways, as they listened silently to the solemn ritual.

Mrs. Coolidge wore black.

"Into Thy hands I commend my spirit; for Thou hast redeemed me O Lord, Thou God of Truth."

"We have brought nothing into this world and it is certain we can carry nothing out. The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the Name of the Lord."

The service at the house was ended more quickly than expected. It was a brief 15 minutes of devotion under the leadership of the masterful voice of their shepherd. Six privates of the Vermont National Guard lifted the gray casket and bore it tenderly through the door of the flower filled room down the slippery sidewalk to the winter hearse—a glass sided box on sleigh runners.

The procession crunched its way over the snow down a little valley and up the hill around a corner and into the burying ground.

At the end of the grave the hearse stopped and after the preacher and the mourners had taken their places standing about the open rectangular space, the minister chanted:

"Man is born of woman, hath but a short time to live and is full of misery. He cometh up and is cut down like a flower; he fleeth as it were a shadow and never continueth in one stay."

The casket was being lowered as Rev. White, disregarding a fine blinding snow that whipped his face and those of the mourners, finished the chant.

As rose petals were cast down in the grave, the minister repeated the immortal passage:

"Unto Almighty God we commend the soul of our brother departed and we commit his body to the ground; earth to earth; ashes to ashes; dust to dust."

"In sure and certain hope of the

16 Killed, 16 Hurt as Blast Furnace Exploded

SHOT AND KILLED HIS WIFE; THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

Windom, Minn., March 20.—(UP)—Fred Rogness, who shot and killed his wife and then turned the gun upon himself, died here 18 hours after the tragedy.

Before death Rogness expressed no remorse. He indicated a desire to die and said he was sorry he had not killed his wife's mother and the sheriff.

Mrs. Rogness, who conducted a millinery shop, had instituted divorce proceedings. She had been threatened by her husband and swore out a warrant for his arrest.

Sheriff Ole G. Peterson was in hiding when Rogness entered the shop waiting to serve the warrant. After a quarrel Rogness drew a gun and fired twice before the sheriff could interfere.

DEPOSED PREACHER TO TELL TROUBLES ON WOC SUNDAY

WILL TRY TO BROADCAST PUBLIC AND PRIVATE SINS OF DARLINGTON, WIS.

REV. WALLACE ESSINGHAM WAS REFUSED HIS PULPIT

Darlington, Wis., March 20.—(UP)—Feminine members of this city's First Congregational church today were impatiently awaiting the zero hour of seven o'clock Sunday night, when, if interference does not become pronounced, their former pastor and friend, Rev. Wallace Essingham, has threatened to take the air on station WOC, Davenport, to broadcast to the world their private and public sins.

Rev. Essingham is now in Davenport where he is studying for the Episcopalian ministry as a result of his break with the Congregational church of Darlington.

The pastor was refused his pulpit and politely asked to leave town when he handed in his resignation and said he would forsake the Congregational faith, because the ladies of the church had produced an "immoral play." The play, "Leave It to Dad," was given under the auspices of the Darlington Women's Relief Corps, whose members declare it to be a standard production given by leading theatres in the United States without ever having the immorality charge hurled at it before.

Officials of station WOC have stated that Rev. Essingham will be watched closely Sunday night while he is broadcasting so that he does not deviate from the subject assigned to him: "A Modern Version of An Old Story." If he does attempt to "sign on" with the sins of the Darlington ladies, he will be literally jerked from the ozone, they declare.

It was not to be discovered today whether the Congregational ladies were sad or glad that the management of the station will prevent Rev. Essingham from informing them and the world of each other's sins. Plans had already been made to have the "speech of sins" taken down verbatim by several members of the congregation in short-hand with the object in view of replying to whatever charges Rev. Essingham would have made or would make if he is allowed to deviate from his assigned subject."

CANADIANS TO BE WITNESSES AT BEER HEARINGS

FAMILIAR WITH CANADIAN LOCAL OPTION SYSTEM OF LIQUOR DISTRIBUTING

WITNESSES WILL OFFER STATISTICS ON DRUNKENNESS, BOOTLEGGING, ETC.

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 20.—A half dozen Canadians, familiar with the Canadian local option system of liquor distributing, will be called before the senate beer hearings committee about April 1, Senator Bruce, Maryland, wet democrat and advocate of the Canadian system, announced today.

The witnesses will explain their system, offer statistics on drunkenness, crime, bootlegging and speak directly upon the Bruce constitutional amendment which would permit cities and counties throughout the country to determine whether they wish to be wet or dry.

"I think some such compromise offers the solution we must reach," Bruce said. "The Volstead act is not enforceable. Where the majority of people want liquor they should have it and where they do not want it liquor should be forbidden."

The proposal also calls for government distribution in communities who want liquor under restrictions similar to the Canadian system.

Others, educators, clergymen and public officials, who recently in speeches and statements have urged modification of the Volstead act will be called to express their views during six days expected to be allotted to them.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, also may be called.

The presentation of the dry case will be under the direction of Wayne B. Wheeler, of the Anti-Saloon League, in connection with Senator Willis, republican, Ohio. Dries believe that under the restriction placed upon the hearings by the senate judiciary sub-committee yesterday, they will be fully protected.

VIOLET RAYS MAY SAVE LIFE OF AGED MAN

93 YEAR OLD LUIS RADTKE, A FARMER OF WISCONSIN, BEING TREATED

POLES SET UP FOR MILE SO AS TO AID IN FURNISHING CURRENT

Thiensville, Wis., March 20.—(UP)—Electricity was being sent through a machine at the home of Luis Radtke, 93, farmer, living near here today, producing violet rays, which it is believed will save his life.

This was made possible after workmen of the Milwaukee Electric Company in record time installed poles and wires a distance of one mile to the home so these rays could be possible.

Stricken with tubercular peritonitis and too ill to be moved to a hospital, physicians declared the only way to save his life was the use of violet rays but the farm home did not have electricity.

Within 31 hours the workers had set 30 poles, strung wire a distance of one mile, trimmed trees so as to be clear of the wires and started the service.

Physicians declared today Radtke had a chance to recover.

RESOLUTION IN SENATE TO PROBE PASSAIC MILL STRIKE

BOY SCOUTS LOSE NATIONAL COUNCIL HEAD

PRESIDENT JAMES J. STORROW, PASSED AWAY MARCH 13 IN BOSTON

WAS KEENLY INTERESTED IN SCOUTING, ELECTED HEAD LAST YEAR

The Boy Scouts of America lost one of their greatest friends on Saturday, March 13, when the president of the National Council, James

James J. Storrow
Late President of the Boy Scouts of America

J. Storrow, passed away in death at his home in Boston.

His death was a distinct shock to all who knew him, and to all who were associated with him through connections with the Boy Scout movement. Although he had been president of the council for less than a year, his keen interest and untiring energy had made themselves felt in the progress of the movement, in a way that meant much for the Boy Scout work and portended still more for the future.

Mr. Storrow succeeded the former president, Livingston, in 1925. Mr. Livingston had been president of the National Council since the incorporation of the movement in America in 1910.

The funeral of Mr. Storrow was held on Tuesday, March 16, from his home at 417 Beacon street, Boston. His wife survives him.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION IN BROOKLYN

BLOWS THE ROOF FROM FRAME BUILDING AND SHAKES NEIGHBORHOOD

SECTION OF FLY WHEEL BLOWN 2 BLOCKS, NO ONE KILLED

Brooklyn, March 20.—(UP)—A terrific explosion occurred in a two-story frame building immediately adjoining a large gas storage tank of the Brooklyn Union Gas Company here today.

The building immediately burst into flames.

Ten or 12 men were said to have been at work in the pumping station when the explosion occurred but all escaped safely. A second blast of much less violence knocked out a brick side wall of the structure, showering debris over 50 firemen at work nearby but injuring no one.

While firemen poured great streams of water over the gas tank in an effort to prevent this exploding the fumes at the top of the outlet pipe of the huge container caught fire and a thin stream of flame shot steadily into the air.

The explosion blew the roof from the frame building and shook the neighborhood. Men and women ran from their homes with their children and hastily gathered belongings.

Police ordered all families out of the dwellings and other structures in the vicinity when it appeared the gas tank might explode.

Such was the force of the explosion that a large piece of steel, a section of a fly wheel, was blown two blocks, narrowly missing a passing automobile as it crashed to the pavement.

By daring work, however, firemen extinguished the blaze. They then entered the wreckage and announced that there was no trace of any victims and it was the belief that no one had been killed or injured. The bursting of a boiler in the building which housed the gas pumping station for the gas tank is given as the cause of the explosion.

Five firemen were killed in an explosion in the same pumping plant during a fire several years ago.

MARSHAL FENG WITHDRAWING FROM CIVIL WAR

CHRISTIAN COMMANDER IS REPORTED ENROUTE TO MONGOLIA

TRAVELING WITH A CARAVAN OF TWENTY-SEVEN AUTOMOBILES

Peking, March 20.—(UP)—Marshal Feng Yuh Siang, the Christian commander of a Chinese army, is reported to be withdrawing from personal participation in the Civil War. Feng is en route from Ping Ti Chuang to Uрга, Mongolia, according to his Russian friends in Peking, traveling with a caravan of 27 automobiles. It is presumed he eventually will go to Moscow.

Borodin, the Soviet Russian agent, whose headquarters are in Canton, told the United Press today that Feng intends to permit rival chiefs to fight among themselves and then to return to China when something concrete would be achieved.

Feng's nationalist troops control the Peking area and man the Taku forts. Their action in mining the Peiho river and refusing to permit foreign shipping to enter the river resulted in the recent ultimatum of the foreign powers.

GANG OF KIDS IMITATED SAFE CRACKING MOVIES

COMMITTED SOME 17 CRIMES IN CHICAGO BEFORE BEING CAPTURED

AGES OF LADS WERE 13, 15 AND 16, CAUGHT WITH BURGLAR TOOLS

Chicago, March 20.—(UP)—A couple of days ago Captain Condon called a special meeting of his detectives.

"Men," he said, "there's a tough mob of safe blowers working this district. Just look at this report. Seventeen jobs in three months. Always the same gang. They work the same everywhere. Now get out of here and get busy, everyone of you guys."

"Wait a minute; the men that bring them in gets extra pay and a $10 bid for the work."

So out went the detectives.

A few months ago there was a motion picture show out on the northwest side that had a safe cracking scene in it. Four boys, ranging in age from 13 to 16 years, were down in the front row eating jelly beans and rooting for the robber to outwit the police.

"Say, Bob," Paul Gershak said to Robert Paul, "ain't it the berries how them guys get away with that stuff. It's easy to get one of them drills and coppers could not get you in a month of Sundays."

A few hours after Captain Condon had delivered his "do or die" speech, Sergeants Gilhooley and Fred Mundt passed an alley just as four boys emerged.

"Whadda ya punks doing out at this early hour in the morning?" Mundt asked.

"Aw, we been out to a dance." Gilhooley did not like the answer and so he seized the largest one. In his pocket he found a revolver. A further search disclosed a set of burglar tools. So the four boys went to the station giving their names as Paul Gershak, 16; Lucas Engel, 15; Robert Paul and John Constantas, 13.

Gershak was the spokesman.

"Sure, we did all those jobs. I dunno whether it was 17 or 18. What difference does it make? Why them cans were so easy we didn't even have to put in the soup (nitroglycerin)."

"How'd we fare? Aw, some of them cans didn't have nothin' in them. Guess maybe we got about a grand ($1,000) outta all of them."

"Captain, them's the desperate safe crackers," said Gilhooley.

"I hope you don't want a hat for a big coup like this?"

"Yeh, gettin a derby so he won't look so much like a dick," one of the gang said as they found a cell. The boys come from families of moderate means on Chicago's northwest side.

Second of the Scott boys DENIES KILLING

Chicago, March 20.—(UP)—The second of the Scott boys today denied killing Joseph Maurer, drug clerk, in a loop holdup.

Robert Scott, brother of Russell Scott, who was sentenced to "hang for the murder, but was saved on an insanity plea, was arraigned here today for Maurer's murder. He pleaded not guilty.

A bitter legal battle surrounded the arraignment of Scott. State's Attorney Emmett Byrne demanded that Scott be arraigned on four robbery indictments in connection with the murder case.

William Scott Stewart, defense attorney, said such was impossible, as Scott had waived extradition from California to come here to answer to a murder indictment. The judge finally upheld Stewart and allowed the not guilty plea.

Thursday Scott will again go into court where a decision will be made on the robbery indictments and whether they shall be tried previous to the murder charge.

NEWSPAPER POLLS ON PROHIBITION ARE CLOSING TODAY

(Copyright, 1926, by United Press)
New York, March 20.—As the majority of newspaper polls on prohibition close today, those who have expressed a desire for the legalized sale of light wines and beer or for the repeal of prohibition laws seem assured of a 5 to 1 lead over those who have voted their satisfaction with the existing situation.

Some of the more than 425 newspapers which have participated in the largest unofficial referendum on a public question ever held in this country, will continue their polls and it may be weeks before all of the returns are in. But the more important polls end today and the number of votes has been decreasing daily.

The United Press today compiled figures from 42 newspapers in as many cities, well distributed as to both geography and population. The totals of this tabulation as revised to 11 A. M. today shows 79,496 for prohibition and 799,494 for changes.

JURY TO DECIDE IF SNIPER GOES TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

Omaha, Neb., March 20.—(UP)—The task of deciding whether Frank Carter, alias Louis Clark, shall die in the electric chair or be sent to an insane asylum for life, will be undertaken by a jury sometime before night. Closing arguments in the case should be finished before noon. Carter was a little more hopeful today. Heretofore he had insisted that he had no chance to escape the chair. Today he wanted to bet 5 to 5 that he would be found insane or given only a life sentence.

N. P. SAVES 1887 HOMES PER YEAR

Cross-Tie Treatment And Maintenance Economy Saves 37,500,000 Feet Lumber Annually

N. P. HAS TWO PLANTS

Brainerd And Paradise, Mont., Plants Use Lowry Process of Preservation

The Northern Pacific Railway Company saves annually enough timber to build 1,887 average six-room houses, according to the computations of Andrew Gibson, superintendent of the local tie plant. About two-thirds of this saving is effected through the process of treating ties, and the balance by wise economy and scientific railroad maintenance.

Levi Johnson, assistant superintendent of the local tie plant, spoke before the last meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, and presented the matter of tie treatment as a great forward step in the conservation of our timber resources. His figures and those of Mr. Gibson show what the railroad company is doing as its bit toward this work.

Mr. Gibson has written an article which tells of the treatment of cross-ties, and his article has been accepted for publication by a number of railroad and timber magazines. It is reproduced herewith:

"Timber conservation may seem far remote from railroading but it is not. Applied science in railroad operation and maintenance is working wonders every day in many different ways and nothing is more important along this line than what is being done to save the lumber resources of the nation.

"Consider for a moment, the railroad cross tie. There are millions upon millions of him holding firm the steel rails of the United States. Daily he carries the commerce of the country upon his shoulders, but so well is the modern railroad maintained that passengers forget there are such things as ties.

"Nevertheless, the tie is highly important. There are 26,342,000 ties in Northern Pacific railway lines traversing the Northwest between Lake Superior and the Pacific Coast. Every one of these thousands of miles of railroad contain an average of 2,714 ties per mile and the traveler going from the Twin Cities to Seattle rides over about 5,167,500 of them.

"Now science has done a wonderful thing for the railroad tie—it has given the tie a new lease on life. Two decades ago and less, the average tie lasted from four to six years. By scientific processes of treatment, the lives of ties have been doubled, trebled, or even quintupled.

"The result is that a lot of fine lumber is being saved to house the nation, present and future.

"About 37,500,000 board feet—or enough to build 1,887 average six-room houses—is being saved annually by the Northern Pacific Railway. Approximately two-thirds of this saving is made by virtue of the process of treating ties and the balance is being saved by wise economy and scientific railroad maintenance.

"Before treated ties were used on this railroad, it was necessary to replace 292 ties per mile of track every year. During the last few years, only about 166 ties are renewed annually per mile. The cost of each untreated tie in the Northern Pacific's track averages $1.25, while the cost of the average treated tie in the track is $1.75, which includes the labor of putting it into the roadbed. So it will be observed that ties are a big item in the cost of operating a railroad and a saving on each one mounts into an enormous total.

"About half of all Northern Pacific ties are treated and within the next few years every tie on the system will have been saturated with preservative. Obviously, methods which prolong the life of wood and are also economical in cost offer the only effective path to any considerable conservation of timber. Consider these methods as applied to the railroad tie.

"There is much popular misconception as to how ties are treated. Many people think that they are merely dipped in vats of preservative fluid. The process is not as simple as that.

"By the Lowry process the Northern Pacific uses, the preservative, which consists of half creosote and half fuel-oil, is forced into the ties under pressure. This method is known as "empty cell" treatment. The wood cells in a growing tree are full of sap. When the wood is cut and seasoned, the sap evaporates and the cells are empty. By sealing up these open cells with a preservative as is done in this process, the entrance is barred to the agents of decay—fungi, bacteria, air and moisture.

"At the Northern Pacific's plants at Brainerd, Minn., and Paradise, Mont., many thousands of ties are treated annually. At each plant are huge horizontal cylinders made of three-fourths inch steel to enable them to withstand the great pressure which is needed to force the fluid into the wood.

"Each cylinder is seven feet in diameter and 133 feet long. A narrow gauge railway passes into each cylinder and extends its entire length and over this railway, the ties, loaded on tram cars, are pushed into the cylinder for treatment. A 50-horse power electric locomotive moves the miniature trains into and out of the cylinders.

"Above the treating cylinders are two overhead tanks, each with a capacity of 30,000 gallons of preservative. These tanks feed the cylinders and in turn, draw their supply from two outside storage tanks with a combined capacity of 320,000 gallons.

"When a trainload of ties is pushed into a cylinder for treatment, the great door is closed. Then the valves of the overhead tanks are opened and the seething hot oil, near the boiling point, is allowed to enter. It takes about 20,000 gallons to completely fill the cylinder with the ties in it. Then hydraulic pressure is applied and between 3,000 and 4,000 additional gallons are forced in.

"At this point, the pressure in the cylinder is tremendous, mounting as high as 180 pounds per square inch. As a railroad tie seven inches thick, eight inches wide and eight feet long presents a surface of 2,992 square inches, the total pressure upon it is a little more than 279 tons. It would seem that such great pressure would crush the tie like an eggshell but it must be remembered that the pressure is equally distributed around the tie and counter-balances itself.

"High pressure must not be prolonged, lest it permanently weaken the wood texture. Certain woods require heavy pressure for effective treatment but the time such pressure is in force must be closely watched.

"Because of the pressure, the 3,000 or 4,000 additional gallons of preservative forced into the cylinder must enter the ties. There are between 700 and 800 ties in the cylinder at a time, so that each tie is impregnated with about five gallons of oil. This is called the "gross absorption."

"As it enters the ties, the oil meets resistance from the air in the wood pores. The pressure not only forces the oil into the pores but it also compresses the air. When "gross absorption" has been reached, there is considerable compression within the ties and this is turned to good account.

"A gallon of preservative costs about nine cents and if each tie were permitted to retain the five gallons it received, the preservative in it alone would cost 45 cents. Consequently it is necessary to recover as much as possible of the absorbed oil. This is done by quick release of the pressure. Valves are opened and the cylinder is drained into underground tanks. At the same time a vacuum pump is set at work. Thus released of the pressure, the imprisoned air in the wood pores expands or "kicks back" and forces out the oil. About two gallons of oil are recovered from each tie, so that the "net absorption" is about three gallons per tie. Twenty-seven pounds is added to the weight of each tie by the retained preservative.

"Only the outside of timber requires protection. If the fluid penetrates and saturates the wood all around for one-half to three-quarters of an inch, the tie is amply protected against the bacteria of decay and insect enemies. Any oil absorbed over this amount would be wasted and would be a loss—hence the importance of recovering a reasonable amount of preservative. Treatment costs 50 cents per tie and more than half of this is the cost of the preservative.

"Four to six hours are required for the entire process. For example, "charging" the ties or forcing in the creosote requires about two hours; draining the cylinder, 10 minutes; vacuum, two hours, draining out the recovered oil, 10 minutes.

"That, in the main, is the process, but effective treating entails much more "technique" and application of science than this brief description implies.

"Proper treating of ties really begins the moment they come from the forest. When the ties are delivered to the tie yards, they are stacked in huge piles for seasoning. Many of the green ties weigh from 175 to 200 pounds and an occasional one weighs 300 pounds. Unloading and piling them in the yards requires a stout frame and strong muscles. Often the Northern Pacific's tie yards contain a million ties in the various stages of seasoning. Six months of the warmest part of the year are required before effective treatment can be undertaken but a year's seasoning is better.

"Before treating, the ties are bored for the spikes and "adzed" or planed for the rail seat. Boring the spike holes permits the preservative to penetrate the wood for some distance around where the spike is to be driven and thus prevents the entrance of decay at the tie's most vulnerable places. It is also a safeguard against splitting which would partly annul the advantage gained by treating.

"Different kinds of wood require different treatment. It is far more difficult to impregnate some woods than others. Only about 45 pounds' pressure is needed to saturate yellow pine but for harder woods, such as Montana—Idaho fir and larch, the high pressure of 175 to 180 pounds is needed.

"About 52 per cent of the ties treated by the Northern Pacific are hard woods and the other 48 per cent are soft woods. All are from the forests of Minnesota, Montana, Idaho and Washington.

"Expert engineers and chemists who operate the treating plants must take many factors into consideration. They must treat the various kinds of wood separately. They must vary the process according to the character of the soil and the conditions under which the trees grew. Wood from a dense forest requires different variation in the process than wood produced in an open country. The season of the year the timber was felled, the water which it may have absorbed after cutting and the rapidity of its growth, all influence the method of treatment.

"Before the Northern Pacific began to treat its ties, only the better grades of wood were used. Now, birch, ash, elm, maple, red oak, cottonwood and jackpine are among the varieties available for ties and give good service, so that the better grades of timber formerly used are saved for more particular purposes.

"This means much to the railroad but it is equally important to the public. The railroad has gained because track maintenance costs have been lowered and here has been less disturbance of the roadbed because of fewer tie renewals.

"In 1860 only one-tenth of the few railroad ties then used in this country were treated. Now about 60 per cent of all ties are treated, and as a result, many acres of forest are saved every year and allowed to develop for the use of future generations."

Animals and Insects

Prepare for Winter

Ants, bees, wasps, flies and many other insects protect themselves during the winter by securing food supplies and constructing retreats.

The wonderful work done by ants, bees, wasps, spiders, butterflies and worms has been studied by many naturalists and researchers have been charmingly described by Lubbock, Fabre, Maeterlinck and other able writers. The underground apartments and terraced homes of the ants, their domestic life, social organization and thoughtfulness, are among the great wonders of nature.

These extraordinarily intelligent insects not only store away an abundance of food for winter, but also they provide aphides to be milked and they cultivate fungi gardens and manufacture many food substances while passing the winter months underground.

Genius, individuality and temperament in animals enable them to solve all the problems of winter which they may at any time encounter. These vary in individuals of the same species. Among any group of young animals or birds or insects you may notice individuals varying in fear, timidity, curiosity, suspicion, sociability, aggressiveness and initiative. Hardly two will be found with similar characters and temperaments. They differ as widely as the members of a single human family. The strong and fearless members of any species give the leadership and develop the customs which enable them to meet the conditions of winter.

Italy Guards Antiques

In Italy one of the most serious crimes is the stealing or unauthorized excavation of antiquities. The government claims as its property all objects of artistic or archeological interest over 100 years old, and permits for their exportation are obtained only rarely and with difficulty.

Rights to excavate or even to study while excavations are proceeding are rarely granted to foreign students. The other day some archeological pickpockets who removed some ancient vases and marbles from tombs that were being excavated near Comacchio were convicted in court. The leader was sentenced to seven years in prison—a punishment rare in Italy for any crime less than murder.

Food of Butterflies

Butterflies feed on the nectar of flowers and the sap of trees and plants. The various flowers, etc., vary with those found in a locality. All adult bees feed on saccharine juices, particularly the nectar of flowers. It is the habit of bees to devote their searching to a single sort of flower as long as it serves their purpose, each individual visiting blossom after blossom of that kind, instead of searching flowers indiscriminately. This varies with the locality.

Pugnacious Crayfish

Crayfish are so pugnacious that if two of them are put in the same crate or open pen one will kill the other, or, like the farmer's dog, die barking at the hole. That is why, when the University of Washington shipped a dozen rare specimens from its aquarium in Seattle to the fish pool in New York, the shippers wound up each crayfish in yards of wet cheesecloth. The consignment came through whole and healthy.—Youth's Companion.

Worms in Soil

The best treatment for the worms in the soil, which are not likely to be doing any harm, is watering several times with lime water, as recommended recently. Different kinds of worms are found in soil in which there is decaying vegetable matter, but they are harmless. Castor oil is not likely to do your plants any good, and we should not advise using it.—Montreal Family Herald.

THE OLD COURT HOUSE AT BRAINERD

The old court house of Crow Wing county located at Brainerd was built in about 1880 and anyone seeing it today will readily realize that it was an ornate building for the time it was built, with its numerous gables, towers, dormer windows, antique chimneys, bay windows and other projections. It was considered a work of art in the old days, and acknowledged by all to be the finest county building in the United States west of Minneapolis.

The building is about 50 feet by 75 feet on ground, with 12 foot ceilings, two full stories in height, with full high ceiling basement under the building and equipped with a modern heating plant, plumbing work and up to date toilets.

The structure was built by a contractor the old timers called "Alphabet King," whose name was F. A. B. King. He was an architect and contractor and claimed he drew the plans for this building. He afterwards engaged in the fuel and lumber business on the same site now occupied by the Hayes-Lucas Lumber company.

The building was erected of cream brick furnished by Swartz's brick yard and the brick made at that yard was considered the best brick made in the state of Minnesota, and while this brick yard has not been operated for upwards of 25 years, there is still a very large deposit of brick making clay at the old site, and also another large deposit of clay for making red brick. Neither of these yards have been operated for a good many years. It is estimated that there are 250,000 bricks in the court house building, and that the structure could not be replaced for less than $75,000.

Thirty thousand dollars bonds were issued to erect court house and jail. The last of this indebtedness will be cleaned up by July, 1927. That was the old method of financing with frequent renewals and much interest charges.

The new court house is a splendid structure, built for business, and cost $395,000. On August 1 this year the last of that indebtedness will be paid.

Now, what to do with the old structure? The Brainerd Chamber of Commerce is seeking to interest some industry to locate in the building, preferably garment, gloves or overall factory. The rooms are large and airy, electric power is reasonable, and the addition of any such industry will be welcomed by the entire city.

As stated by a contractor, to tear down the building will cause an expense hardly covered by the salvage of old material. The county commissioners are anxious to get the property on the tax rolls.

The Chamber of Commerce is advertising in a textile journal of large circulation and hopes in a short time to receive applications from manufacturers. Austin, Minn., a much smaller town than Brainerd, just recently gained a large clothing factory.

FARMING IN CROW WING COUNTY

CLAUDE R. MITCHELL, in a letter to THE DISPATCH, describes his experiences farming in Crow Wing county. Mr. Mitchell tells his story in a matter of fact way.

"I came to Crow Wing county from Oklahoma in 1912," writes Mr. Mitchell, "and settled on a tract of unimproved land, making a small down payment. My one ambition was to get that land in cultivation as quickly as possible, so as to have feed and grain for my stock.

"My rule was to clear at least five acres each year, besides farming what I had already cleared, taking care of my stock and improving my buildings. I stick pretty close to small grain and clover, never letting any of my land go more than three years without having a clover crop on it. By doing this I always have an abundance of fine hay for my milk cows and at the same time keep my soil in fine condition for other crops that are to follow.

"Corn especially responds abundantly to this nitrogen laden soil. I purchased a high grade Guernsey cow at the outset and by always breeding to a registered bull, I now have nine beautiful cows of high production. I am expecting eight of these to be fresh in a short time.

"These cows have made my living, finished paying for my land, and enabled me to save enough to put up a set of comfortable buildings, consisting of a six-room house, a barn 30 by 40 feet, and other necessary outbuildings.

"Although we have never gone very heavy into poultry, I have never been in a country where they do better than here. We always aim to keep enough to have meat and eggs for our own use.

"My advice to any one going on to a new piece of wild land would be to never buy more land than is really necessary, and while they are getting started, to economize and live within their means."

NEWS IN THE OLD DAYS

THEY had an odd idea as to what constituted news in the old days. For instance, due to slow methods of communication, the adoption of the Declaration of Independence was first recorded in a Philadelphia paper ten days afterward, and in a Boston paper twenty-two days afterward.

When Wellington conquered Napoleon at Waterloo, the news came to London by special courier. The editor of the London Times had his front page all made and so put the battle in an inconspicuous place on an inside page.

The first newspapers devoted themselves to philosophical, political and religious discussions, and essays, which featured the front page. Advertisements were just cards calling attention to the business carried on.

In order to get the real news and gossip of the neighborhood one had to join a men's club or a ladies' aid.

CAMPERS and smokers cause 28 per cent of all forest fires in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, according to the annual report of the Lake States Forest Experiment Station.

SOME valuable fur was lost from the fox farm near Deerwood. A silver fox valued at $1,200 escaped. Efforts to capture the animal at Crosby failed.

THE first fiddling contests were probably introduced by Nero, who is reported engaged in fiddling while Rome burned.

Birds and Mankind
of Long Association

The association between certain birds and man is immensely ancient, says the London Times. As with sheep and oxen and horses, and even more with the dog, the attempt to assign a date to the origin of our farmyard birds is foiled by the mists of antiquity.

The scanty company of farmyard species has been recruited in very different ages. The turkey could not join us until we discovered America, and probably far the oldest is the rock-pigeon. When man learned how to grow grain, the dove found a new attraction in his company.

When man became a builder in stone, he built also for the swallows and doves. The swallow finds a home today in the cowsheds that mimic his ancient caves, while the house-pigeon, like the house-martin, clings to the outside of man's mimic rock faces and builds its nests on his triumphal arches and against his cathedrals.

Gregorian Calendar

The present calendar was adopted in the sixteenth century, the Julian or old Roman calendar having become greatly erroneous. Luigi Lilio Ghiraldi, frequently called Aloysius Lilius, a physician, of Verona, projected a plan for amending the Julian calendar, which, after his death was presented by his brother to Pope Gregory XIII. To carry it into execution, the Pope assembled a number of prelates and learned men. In 1577 the proposed change was adopted by all the Catholic princes, and in 1582 Gregory issued a brief abolishing the Julian calendar in all Catholic countries, and introducing in its stead the one now in use, under the name of the Gregorian or reformed calendar, or the "new style," as the other was now called the "old style." The Gregorian calendar was not adopted in England until 1752.

Men of Great Strength

It is difficult to compare strong men. Each has his own special tests, at which he is superior to the rest. A recent newspaper article stated that unquestionably the strongest man of modern times was Louis Cyr of Canada, who was considerably stronger than Sandow. Breitbart, who died in October, 1925, is said to have come nearer emulating Sandow than any of the latter's many imitators. Certain strong men excelled Sandow in specific feats. For instance, Arthur Saxon was the best lifter of weights ever produced. Steinbach, Inch, Ashton, Travis, Rolandow and Lurich each had some unusual performance to his credit.

Forces That Control

The tone of society is the result, not so much of the deliberate attempt of the members of it to influence each other, as of the unconscious action and reaction of their characters. Nor can anyone easily measure how great his own contribution has been to the good or evil spirit that prevails around him, or how, by casual deeds or actions, or even looks, he may have influenced the lives of others. We do not carry on our warfare at our own charges, but the whole weight of the evil that is in our society is dragging us down, and the whole force of the good that is in it is helping us up.—Edward Caird.

Lace-Making Old Art

Lace-making, embroidery and fine needlework in general are credited to the Greeks, and its antiquity goes back to mythology almost. Minerva is said to have originated the art of pictorial needlework. Many books on lace-making and embroidery have been traced back to the Middle Ages. The Greeks are thought to have brought it from Egypt, and the Chaldeans, whose civilization was earlier than that of the Egyptians, had developed it to a fine degree also. France gave it wide popularity after the Christian era.

Japan Leads Fish Eaters

Japan leads in the consumption of fish per capita per annum. There it is about 200 pounds per person, per year, while in England, also a big fish-eating country, it is 45 to 50 pounds per person a year. In Canada, where fishing is a big industry, the consumption is about 25 pounds per person a year.

MAE MURRAY in "THE MASKED BRIDE"

Mae Murray's Beaded Dress Floors Actors in Film

Beads may be great as scenery—but they're as dangerous as the proverbial banana-peel, when worn by Mae Murray. Miss Murray wore a sensational costume, composed of glass beads in her new feature "The Masked Bride." When she danced, the beads flew. Several actors slipped and fell as a result. Woe reigned until the glass costume was finished with.

This is one of several startling costumes she wears in the new picture, a gorgeous Metro-Gladwyn-Mayer feature coming to the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday.

A wonderful love story, screened in the midst of some of the biggest thrills ever produced—a baffling mystery told amid gorgeous scenes—this is "The Phantom of the Opera," Lon Chaney's successor to "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," which Universal is presenting at the New Park theatre tonight and Sunday.

It shows a new Lon Chaney in a new type of play—a thriller told in terms of utter magnificence. Gorgeous ballets, brilliant Parisian fetes, filmed in original colors in the largest scenes ever made for a motion picture—these vie with the dim and eerie cellars under Paris where the Phantom—half-devil, holds ghostly sway.

Observe the speedometer of any "used" Willys-Knight, should yours be the rare good fortune to find one available. Nine times out of ten, the mileage registered there is easily twice that of any other used car you may meet with.

The reason for this is the absolutely unique service afforded by the patented Knight sleeve-valve engine in which carbon troubles, valve grinding and all wearing and weakening factors common to the poppet-valve type of engine have been permanently done away with.

The engine of a Willys-Knight is everlasting. It never wears out. Unlike any other motor-mechanism in existence it does not deteriorate. It actually IMPROVES with use. At 100,000 miles and over, a Willys-Knight is a more powerful, more efficient, smoother and quieter car than the day it left the factory. Hence, high mileage totals on "used" Willys-Knights are inevitable. Cases without number are on record in which Willys-Knight engines that have been run over 300,000 miles are in better condition today than when they first were purchased.

DR. ROY SMITH'S SATURDAY NIGHT TALKS

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

YOU CAN'T READ THEM ALL

It is said that, on one occasion, Thomas A. Edison set out to read the Detroit Public Library. Beginning at the top shelf in the northwest corner of the room he read every book as he came to it for a space of fifteen feet. Then he discovered a great principle of life. No man can read all the books in the world. In fact, many of them are not worth reading. Certainly some of them will never contribute anything to some people.

Success in life consists in learning to make intelligent choices. No man has enough time to belong to all the lunch clubs; nights enough to belong to all the lodges; money enough to buy all the automobile accessories; nor strength enough to dance all the latest steps.

Having a limited amount of time to spend, why not invest it in books that have demonstrated their ability to survive? Abraham Lincoln owned but five books but they were sufficient to furnish a pretty substantial education. And the interesting thing is that all but one of these books are still popular with thinking people.

Instead of chasing feverishly after the latest book, play, song, cravat or shingle-bob, why not pick out a few books that will not have to be forgotten, one or two plays that are eternally new, some songs that have warmed the hearts of struggling men for centuries?

We spend too much time learning that which we must forget, acquiring habits of which we are ashamed, mastering arts for which there is no market or appreciation, circulating slanders that do no one good.

Happy is the man who has learned to choose between the temporary and the eternal, between the beautiful and the latest.

GANGSTER'S GUN CRACKS ON WEST SIDE OF CHICAGO

Chicago, March 20.—(UP)—The crack of the gangster's gun again reverberated through the west side "bad lands" early today and two men were shot, one so seriously that physicians say he will die.

The shooting came less than 24 hours after a jury had acquitted John Scalisi and Albert Anselmi, Genna gangsters, of the murder of a policeman and authorities said the shooting was probably brought on when the victims refused to contribute to the defense fund for those two who stood trial.

Another police theory is that it was just another beer war shooting which may have ended the aspirations of someone to succeed to the throne of "alcohol king" left vacant when murderous slugs took away Angelo, Michael and Tony Genna.

The film depicts the work of the United Press correspondents in bureaus in London, Paris, Tokio, Berlin, Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro; shows John O'Brien, was correspondent, working under fire on the Riffian front, and gives flashes of the great relay offices in leading American cities in which the United Press maintains 40 bureaus, collecting news to send to 1,050 newspapers throughout the world.

JONNY RISKO BATTERS DOWN BERLENBACH

PULLS BIGGEST SURPRISE OF THE YEAR AT N. Y.

GIVES WORLD'S LIGHT HEAVY-WEIGHT CHAMPION A BAD BEATING

ALMOST KNOCKED HIM OUT IN 10 ROUND BOUT AT GARDEN

New York, March 20.—(UP)—Pulling one of the biggest surprises of years, Johnny Risko, young Cleveland heavyweight, gave Paul Berlenbach, world's light heavyweight champion, a bad beating in a 10 round bout last night in Tex Rickard's Garden and almost knocked him out.

Risko, who had an advantage of 14 pounds, floored the champion for a count of four in the first round and knocked him to his knees again for a short count in the second round. In several other rounds Berlenbach was wobbling on his feet but Risko tired badly from the exertion and weakened in the late rounds.

The two judges gave the decision to Risko, but the referee, Jack O'Sullivan, called it a draw.

Chick Suggs, New England bantamweight, won a 10 round decision from Dominick Petronne, New York. Tony Vaccarelli, New York, featherweight, won a 10 round decision from Joey Silvers, New York.

COMMERCIALIZATION OF FOOTBALL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

Loud shouts of protest against the further commercialization of football arose when Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Pennsylvania announced that prices of admission to some of their football games next fall would be increased. There has been a lot of confusing talk during the winter for and against the over-emphasis on sports in the educational scheme and the stress that has been exerted on the public in the promotion of major-inter-collegiate sports competition.

The best answer to all of it would seem to be: "Who's business is it?"

Brown University saw the darkest prospect ahead for college athletics because the ante had been raised and several experts said that the public ought to be protected against the extortion of the aristocratic colleges.

Such protests are the bunk. The public should not and cannot be aroused by what prices Yale, Harvard and Princeton charge for admission to their football games.

The "Big Three" games are not public attractions. They are the most exclusive athletic events that are staged on any kind of a field any place in the world.

The public cannot buy tickets to the "Big Three" games or the Army-Navy football games for any price unless they go to speculators and no human can prevent the scalpers from getting a few tickets to any form of amusement or entertainment where the demand for a spectator's place is sufficient.

The "Big Three" and the officials of the service academies have a great problem in giving satisfaction to their own families.

The old grads do not die as fast as the new grads leave their Alma Maters. The demand for tickets at Yale, Harvard, Princeton, the Army and Navy is increased by many thousands every June when a bunch of young seniors is turned out into the cold, cold world.

In the past there have been just reasons to criticize the policy of the "Big Three" in its realization with the public but if you took a look at the schedules of Yale, Harvard and Princeton in the past three or four years or if you watch the schedules that are to come you will see very few games that were arranged deliberately to attract a big gate.

The case of Pennsylvania is different but Pennsylvania had to depend upon football to get the funds to defray the expenses of a bigger and more elaborate athletic scheme for more students than Yale, Harvard or Princeton has.

If the Yale club in New York, the Harvard club or the Princeton club should raise the dues for its members, should there be a public squawk. The "Big Three" games are almost as exclusive and as private as their clubs and why should Brown, Podunk or any other college raise ned about the dues at the Harvard or Yale clubs?

JUNIORS WIN INTER-CLASS CHAMPIONSHIP

DEFEATED FRESHMEN IN NIP AND TUCK AFFAIR, 17 TO 15

SOPHOMORES TAKE CONSOLATION GAME FROM SENIORS, 23 TO 0

The Junior basketball team won the inter-class championship of the high school by defeating the Freshmen in a weird affair, by a score of 17 to 15. The Juniors went wild toward the beginning of the game to get a good lead, but the first year men started creeping to the fore with free throws. The Freshmen had hard luck on many of their shots.

Hayes, center of the Juniors, played a hard game, emerging from his slump of the night before to shake the drapes four times. He slowed up somewhat toward the end of the fourth quarter after his team had gained a safe lead.

Lawrenz made two baskets and two free throws, and Putz made one basket and one free throw. Putz played a fine guarding game.

For the Freshmen, Wise was the heavy worker, making 10 points, on two baskets and six free throws. Aro made the only other basket, while Gabiou, with two free throws, and Swanson, with one, made the other points.

Rosel refereed the game.

In the consolation game, the Sophomores walked away from the Seniors, whitewashing them 23 to 0. Barnes and Hautala played the best games for the Sophs. Lowe and Do-Rocher officiated during this game.

COACHES PICK ALL-DISTRICT 1ST, 2ND TEAMS

BRAINERD DISPATCH GETTING SELECTIONS FROM MENTORS

CHOICES WILL BE PUBLISHED AS SOON AS RETURNS ARE IN

The Brainerd Dispatch is sponsoring a selection of all-district first and second teams in basketball, the selection being made by the coaches of all high schools in the district. Letters and blanks were mailed to all coaches a few days ago, and already four of the eight coaches have returned their selections.

The selections will be published as soon as all returns are in and computations made. Each coach is selecting a first team and a second team.

In making the choices each coach, by request, is refraining from selecting any of his own men. In this way, each player is considered by all coaches except his own, who may be prejudiced in favor of him. It does away with the chance of any coach loading his selection with his own players.

It is expected that all returns will be in within a day or two, and the selection will be published immediately.

WILL CARRY NATIONAL EMBLEM INTO 2 COUNTRIES

FRANCE AND ENGLAND TO BE INVADED BY THE SQUADS

BELIEVED TO BE ONE OF MOST FORMIDABLE GROUP OF WOMEN PLAYERS ASSEMBLED

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 20.—America's maximum tennis strength is represented in the women's team, named by the United States Lawn Tennis Association to carry the national emblem into France and England this summer.

"It is not only the strongest team that we could recruit, but we believe it is the most formidable group of women players ever assembled," Julian S. Myrick, chairman of the Davis cup committee of the association, said.

Captained by Miss Mary K. Browne the versatile California star, the team includes Helen Wills, national champion, who is now in Europe, Elizabeth Ryan and Mrs. Martin Zinderstein Jessup. Eleanor Goss will act as alternate, but only illness will prevent the regular appointees from making the trip.

"We regret that Mrs. Molla Mallory (six times national champion) could not arrange her plans to accept an appointment on the team," Myrick said. "She has made other plans for the summer but we have her promise that she will answer an emergency call if anything should happen to the other players in France or England."

Myrick said there was no truth in the report that Mrs. Mallory refused to consider the invitation unless she would be rated as the No. 2 player on the team, the place that was given to Miss Ryan.

The appointment of Miss Ryan to the team, as far as international tennis is concerned, settles finally the citizenship question of the former Californian.

Miss Ryan had lived in England and played there for more than ten years, but the British association would not recognize her as an English player and the United States officials would not use her as an American player.

The team will not sail as a unit, but will assemble in Paris on May 17 to start practice for a special team match against the French players. It is improbable, however, that Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the French tennis queen, will appear in the matches, as she is conserving herself for the defense of her title at Wimbledon.

Officials of the association are now trying to organize the men's team that will be sent to Wimbledon. Letters already have been sent to a number of the ranking stars, asking if they could arrange to make the trip.

Nothing official has been announced but it is understood that Bill Tilden, Billy Johnston and Vinnie Richards have informed the association that they may not be able to get away from their business affairs.

MRS. JOHN B. JESSUP DEFEATS MISS RYAN

Brookline, Mass., March 20.—(UP)—Mrs. John B. Jessup of Wilmington, Del., defending champion, won the first set from Miss Elizabeth Ryan of Santa Monica, Cal., in the finals of the women's national indoor singles tennis tournament here this afternoon. The score was 6-1.

Miss Ryan was extremely erratic and Mrs. Jessup drove her from one side of the court to the other. Both women played a back court game, marred by several outstanding volleys in which the ball was kept in play from eight to 10 shots before decision of point.

Miss Ryan's famed chop stroke was working poorly. Mrs. Jessup's drives put her opponent in frequent error and the champion scored heavily.

Mrs. Jessup ..... 540 444 4-6-25
Miss Ryan ..... 304 122 2-1-14
Miss Ryan turned the tables in the second set, winning 6-2. Her game showed a marked improvement.

THAWING FORCES BUSES TO STOP

All Lines Held Up by Poor Condition of Highways Near Brainerd

NO BUSES LIKELY FOR WEEK

Last Minneapolis Bus Arrived Last Night Four Hours Late After Much Trouble

All bus lines running into and out of Brainerd have discontinued service, due to the almost impassable condition of the highways. The warm weather has started the road drifts to thawing, with a result that no bottom is left to the highway for the machines to get traction.

The last Minneapolis bus to reach Brainerd arrived at about 9 p. m. Friday, four hours late. The Duluth bus due in here at 4 p. m. arrived at 6:30 p. m. Friday. The Bemidji buses ran yesterday, but discontinued today, and the Staples bus line has also been called off.

Motorists using the detour along No. 27 report that the road is almost impassable, and likely to remain so for many days if this weather continues.

Many travelling men who have been in the habit of using the bus lines are now travelling by train, the noon train to Minneapolis and the evening Duluth train carrying many each day.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, March 29.—(UP)—No change took place in the character of the market in the two hours of trading in the week end. Urgent selling went ahead in many sections of the list, forcing new lows on the movement in various industrials.

As in the two preceding sessions, motor shares were in the front line trenches, coming under a raking professional fire, which caused further losses in Hudson, General Motors and all other leaders of this class.

In view of the extent of the week's declines it was reasonable to expect a temporary halting point in the downward movement if only for technical reasons. There was no indication of such a development in the automobile group.

In stocks like the rails, the bears made no headway and indications were observed of influential buying in special issues like Standard of New Jersey and Erie first preferred.

The market closed lower.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 29.—Two bandit chases worthy of thrills in moving pictures were staged here early today by Minneapolis police.

William Peterson was wounded and placed under arrest as result of one. He was seen jumping into an automobile with an arm full of dresses taken from a shop window. Police who gave chase riddled his car with bullets and captured him when it careened into a curb and wrecked.

Another police gun squad pursued an automobile identified as a car stolen early last night. Its occupants, three young men and three girls, were fired upon but none was wounded.

Two of the girls jumped out before the chase ended when the car was wrecked. The three girls suffered minor injuries. Two of the escaped after the crash. ## DAMAGED PLANES MAY NOT CALL OFF POLAR FLIGHT

Detroit, Mich., March 29.—(UP)—Damaging of the two planes of the Detroit Arctic expedition at Fairbanks, Alaska, may not cause an abandonment of the projected flight across the Polar ice cap this spring, H. G. McCarroll, assistant manager of the expedition, told the United Press today.

Fairbanks, Alaska, March 29.—With both planes of the Detroit Arctic expedition badly damaged in trial flights, the attempt to cross the North Pole by air may be postponed indefinitely or even abandoned, it was predicted here today.

Thursday, the one motor craft, Alaskan, suffered a smashed landing gear, when Pilot Ben Eielson and Captain George H. Wilms were landing after a test flight.

Late yesterday the triple motor plane, Detroit, sustained a worse mishap in a similar attempt to land after its first trip in the air.

Actions of yesterday, of people miles away, going on on a curtain before you. Stilled throats singing to you from discs; distant throats singing to you from nothing!

Uncanny daily magic—this, due to national advertising. Advertisements have given you flashlights, telephones, typewriters, automobiles, cold creams, motion pictures. They have given you new eyes, new ears, new hands, new feet, new faces, new emotions. They have urged such a wide use, so lowered prices, that almost wishes are autos, almost beggars can ride. Through advertisements you've laid down the shovel and the hoe. You can buy a whole harvest ready-to-eat in cans. You've hung up the fiddle and the bow, for a radio. There's little old-time work left in this age of amazing short-cuts.

Read the advertisements. They keep you to the fore of modern life
